D. Korsakoff's Psychosis

1. Amnesia
2. Poor memory, falsification of memory
3. Disorientation, usually continuous
4. Peripheral neuropathy
5. Preceded and often accompanied by psychomotor agitation
6. Usually history of malnutrition, associated with many years of alcohol ingestion

Important points for consideration in the differential diagnostic approach to the alcohol withdrawal psychoses:

1. presence and extent of or absence of psychomotor agitation.
2. type and nature of hallucination - auditory, visual or tactile; pleasant or threatening.
3. state of sensorium - is there a co-existent disorientation in one or more spheres.
4. basis for delusions whether or not delusions based on hallucinatory experience.
5. extent of amnesia of psychotic episode.
6. co-existent disorders, especially infectious or traumatic.
